Comfort begins before the finishes go in.

A comfortable home is shaped by decisions made early—inside the walls, at the roof, around every opening, and throughout the mechanical design. Kiefer Built coordinates these systems around your property, priorities, and the way you want to live.

- 01 Create a continuous envelope. EPS/SIP panel systems can provide structure, insulation, and air control in one coordinated assembly, helping reduce gaps and thermal bridges.
- 02 Control unwanted airflow. A carefully detailed envelope helps reduce drafts and makes indoor conditions easier to manage.
- 03 Plan the mechanical systems. Ventilation and properly sized heating and cooling equipment should be designed around the home's actual envelope and needs.
- 04 Keep one team accountable. Kiefer Built stays close to the decisions connecting the structure, systems, schedule, and finished home.
